

TASACC TASA 2009 and the TPB Code of Professional Conduct

Program outline

Program overview

This program is for financial advisers who provide tax (financial) advice services and wish to be registered with the Tax Practitioners Board (TPB) as a tax (financial) adviser.

The TPB considers it essential that a registered agent be able to demonstrate their knowledge of the Tax Agents Services Act (TASA), including the Code of Professional Conduct as part of the requirements for registration and to be able to meet their statutory obligations in relation to the provision of tax agent services.

Kaplan Professional has partnered with The Tax Institute to deliver this program which meets the TPB's requirements under TPB (I) 10/2011.

The program provides background and information on TASA 2009 and how it applies to financial advisers. The program also covers registration requirements, transitional provisions, the Code of Professional Conduct and administrative sanctions and penalties available to the TPB.

Learning outcomes

On successful completion of TASA 2009 and the TPB Code of Professional Conduct, students should be able to:

- Recall the objects of TASA 2009.
- Quantify the Board's power to apply to the Federal Court for an injunction.
- List their obligations to notify the Board of a change of circumstances.
- Recall the eligibility requirements for registration and any transitional provisions available.
- Recognise the criteria for determining whether an individual is a fit and proper person.
- Understand their obligations to comply with the standards and principles of the Code.
- Link the administrative sanctions that may be imposed for specific breaches of the Code.
- Relate civil penalty provisions to contraventions of conduct of registered and unregistered agents.
