

Scope

The Teaching and Learning Principles are applicable to Kaplan Higher Education Pty Ltd and Kaplan Education Pty Ltd trading as Kaplan Professional ('Kaplan Professional').

Purpose

This document is designed to communicate Kaplan Professional's Teaching and Learning Principles ('the Principles') to both staff and students.

The Principles underpin the design, delivery and review of Kaplan courses, and articulate Kaplan Professional's commitment to excellence in teaching and learning. Adherence to these principles will ensure a quality learning experience for students undertaking studies at Kaplan Professional.

Vision

'To be a leading education provider delivering excellence in teaching and learning, working in partnership with industry, to prepare our graduates for the workplace and beyond.'

1. Specialist and industry focussed

At Kaplan Professional, we're known for our long-standing partnership with industry and deep expertise. We're committed to providing specialised, high-quality education that students can apply directly to their professional roles, including meeting licencing requirements, to help them succeed in their chosen career. We take pride in our knowledge of, and responsiveness to, industry changes.

2. Student-centred

Students are placed at the centre of everything we do at Kaplan Professional, where they are actively engaged in their learning experience. We pride ourselves on understanding their individual needs and tailoring personalised support. We work in agile, responsive partnership with our students and their employers.

3. Authentic and real-world

Kaplan Professional is able to leverage considerable industry connections to design and deliver practical, applied learning. This learning is led by industry experts and leading practitioners, guided by Kaplan Professional's internal academic faculty, who bring extensive academic scholarship and their own industry expertise to our teaching and learning. Kaplan Professional's content is current, relevant and is based on contemporary case studies as well as the latest industry insights and trends. We also work closely with industry bodies and associations to provide professional pathways into and from our courses, including recognising a student's relevant experience towards the studies they are undertaking, or to achieve industry designations after completion of their studies.

4. Flexible

Our learning approach gives our diverse student body the flexibility and freedom to engage with their studies how and when they wish, via our self-directed and blended learning options. Our online learning management system, Kaplearn, provides an interactive, technology-enhanced learning environment that encourages our students to engage with their learning, our academic staff, and each other.

5. Committed to quality and excellence

We demonstrate our ongoing commitment to providing a high standard of learning to our students through rigorous continuous improvement and quality assurance activities. These activities are designed to both comply with our various regulators as well as to ensure that our students receive learning and assessment that is effective, clear, purposeful, and relevant.
